IRISH PEACE PLANS

Lord Cecil Offers Amend-George's Program.

BY RALPH H. TURNER, United News Staff Correspondent

London, October 28 .- Into the well-oiled machinery with which Premier Lloyd-George expected to the Irish situation next Monday, Lord Robert Cecil has thrown a wrench which may disrupt the pre mier's program and which will at least present him a delicate problem for solution before he finds himself free to go to America.

With the expectation of bringing about a coalition of those elements which, while opposed to the government's policies, favor a continuance of the Irish peace conference, Lord Robert has introduced an amendment to the original resolution of censure which would practically kill that measure. His amendment

"While deploring the policy-or want of policy-of the government in Ireland for the last three years, the house of commons is of the opinion that to break off the nego-tiations with Sinn Fein at the pres-ent stage would only add to the dan-gers and difficulties of the situa-tion."

Defeat by the government of the original tory resolution which utterly condemns the peace parley is conceded. But Lloyd-George must now also beat the Ceell amendment, which is apt to attract the less conservative elements. And these factions may unite to express displeasing over Lloyd-George's handling of England's greatest domestic problem even though they themselves would hesitate to cause a breakdown in the peace conference.

ONE MAN MEETS DEATH AND FIVE ARE INJURED

When asked to express his opinion on the question of disarmament, Mr. Rambo declared that he did not know enough about the question to discuss it, that he did not know whether he wanted disarmament or not, and that he doesn't see how a mass meeting of the people of Atlanta can inform or aid the delegates to Washington who are being sent there because of their great knowledge of all things pertaining to the subject.

Then he waded into the subject.

Then he waded into the subject, night. Officials of the institution "Japan is over in the west bris-tling for a fight," he declared. "If I had a shotgun and my neighbor had a dangerous dog running loose, I vouldn't put my gun up until the dog was caged. In fact, I don't know whether I want even limited armaments. announced an X-ray will be taken early Saturday in an effort to determine definitely whether he has sustained any fractures. His condition, while reported to be dangerous, is not thought fatal.

"As for this proposed mass meeting and a resolution in favor of disarmament to be sent to the Washington conference, you can easily get the resolution passed if you liave eloquent speakers to present the side of disarmament."

John W. Cooper, of the Atlanta Ad club, stated that he was for disarmament, but that it can be brought about in the United States only simultaneously with similar actions by other nations. He expressed his doubt of the advisability of holding the mass meeting. Early Saturday morning, two more injured were added to the list, when a man and girl arrived at Grady hospital, the man with a broken leg and the girl with a bad cut over the eye. According to their story, Beckner and Howard Durham, both who refused to tell officials of the hospitals their names, had been out Those in favor of the mass meeting and a resolution to send to the Washington conference, declared that such meetings wil be held throughout the United States on the same day, and that it will show the delegates what the American people want; that it will give impetus to the conference in reducing armaments and that the effect of these mass meetings would reach foreign countries.

It was announced that the Atlanta Council of Church Co-operation will hold a meeting, presenting the arguments in favor of disarmament, next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the hold a meeting, presenting the arguments in favor of disarmament, next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Ponce de Leon Baptist church. Dr. Wilmer and Marvin Underwood will speak. On November 6, it is expected, every preacher in Atalnta will discuss the subject in their pulpits.

The committees appointed to arrange for the mass meeting follow: Publicity committee, Julian Boehm chairman; J. B. Nevin and Paul H. Norcross; committee on music, W. C. Caraway, chairman; D. L. Spooner and Paul Donehoo; on ushers, A. A. Jameson, chairman; Kendall Weisiger and Ass Warren Candel; on resolutions, E. M. Underwood, chairman; Karl Karston, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson and William Strauss; on schools and colleges, R. B. Cunningham, chairman; K. G. Matheson, W. A. Sutton, Dr. F. R. Parker and Miss Mary C. Barker; on civic organizations, Mrs. B. M. Boykin, chairman; Mrs. W. P. Price-Smith, Mrs. T. T. As the result of a train wreck near Dalton about a year ago, William Andrew Wilbright, locomotive engineer, aged 64, died at the residence, 426 Luckie street, Friday night. Mr. Wilbright had been confined to his bed since the wreck in which two men lost their lives. Surviving Mr. Wilbright are his widow: two sons, Clyde P. and Rufus Wilbright; three sisters, Mrs. Etta Herron, of Gadsden, Ala; Mrs. W. McGuffin, of Jefferson, Tenn, and Mrs. G. B. Carlton, of Atlanta, and a brother, J. B. Wilbright, of Spartanburg, S. C.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, by Rev. John W. Ham. Masonic ceremonies will be performed at the graveside in Hollywood cemetery, by Atlanta lodge, No. 59, F. & A. M.

Mr. Wilbright had been in the employ of the W. & A. railroad for about forty years. He was a member of the Baptist Tabernacle, and a Freemason. He was also affiliated with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, lodge No. 7, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, lodge No. 37.

auit seeking sale of the property and adjudication of the company's affairs, was brought soon after the death of Mrr. Sage, by Colonel Slocum and the other executors.

The petition of the executors points out that the road under the present receivership has been operating at a loss month after month and that on a petition of Prince and company, Boston bankers, the Court on July 2, 1921, set August 6, 1921, as the date of sale. When the sale date arrived, Prince and company asked and secured additional time to investigate and September 15 was set as the time for the sale. On that date a second postponement was granted. October 15 being fixed as the date of sale. At aeither time when the road was offered has there been a bidder for the property. At the last sale date no word was received from Prince and company, it is explained and the next date for offering the road is now fixed as November 15.

Weeks Inspects Muscle Shoals Nitrate Plant

Florence, Ala., October 28. Carnation to learn everything possible about the government property at Muscle Shoals, Secretary of War Weeks late today completed an in-spection which carried him over a good portion of the five thousand acres' reservation at Wilson dam and nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2. Accompanied by army engineers Mr. Weeks went at his task in earnest. He saw for himself what had resulted from the war effort of the government in spending approximately one hundred and five million dollars. Many questions vere asked by the secretary, and volume of data gathered. Mr. Weeks returned to Florence this afternoon, barely in time to take his place at a banquet table. After his arrival in Sheffield ear-ly in the day, Mr. Weeks was guest it breakfast at rooms of the Shotfield Chamber of Commerce. A reat crowd had gathered from all sections of the Tennessee river .valley to greet the war secretary, and he addressed the people when he had finished his morning meal.

Expressing his appreciation for the spontaneous outpouring of the people, he told them that this was a serious business mission and that he was going about it in a business-like manner in the hope that he might be able to make recommendation soon to congress.

He was frank to say that the proposition for the disposal of the government property would be considered purely in the light of a business transaction and that he was certain the people would not have it otherwise. He called attention to what he described as a period of money stringency, and added that whatever decision he came to in a recommendation, it must'be based upon conclusions consistent with present economic conditions and in line with sound business reasoning.

Satisfactory Solution.

A solution of the Muscle Shoals problem that will be "reasonably satisfactory" to the people of Alabama and the south will soon be reached, Secretary Weeks told guests at a dinner given in his honor tonight.

Touching upon the proposal of Henry Ford, Detroit manufacturer, he said it was a question of whether the offer should be accepted or whether it should be modified, or whether the government should operate the plants.

Mr. Weeks made emphatic denial to a charge which he said had teached his ears that the administration is "playing politics" with Muscle Shoals.

Will Act Quickly.

Will Act Quickly.

"Why, don't you know," he said,
"if I wanted to play politics I would recommend the completion of the project within a minute.

"This industrial project, like all others which come before my department, will be handled strictly on its merits, and Muscle Shoas in Aabama will receive the same consideration that it would if located in Massachusetts."

Mr. Weeks said he was not responsible in delays incident to disposing of the property, and assured his hearers that he would act as quickly as conditions warranted.

Other speakers at the dinner were Mayor Rowlett Paine, of Memphis, Mayor Felix Z. Wilson, of Nashville, and Mayor A. W. Chambliss, of Chattanooga.

THROWN IN WATER

Buffalo, N. Y., October 28.—Kenneth R. Lozy, 20-year-old student at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conf., was stabbed to death in a fight and his body thrown into the Niagara river, in the opinion of Dr. Early G. Danzer, county medical examiner. The body, believed to be that of Lozy, was found floating in the river last night.

The inquest today disclosed that Lozy's right elbow had been dislocated and the muscles of the arm torn, apparently in a struggle. The condition of the lungs and other organs showed that the young man was dead before he was thrown into the water.

From Madam Hendren Talking and Walking Dolls, $4.95

-Why do little girls love dolls? We do not know, but we suspect that it is because of the dawning consciousness of mother love. It is this which enables the vivid and untroubled childish imagination to endow an automaton of sawdust and bisque with all the attributes of the quick, of a thing alive. Dolls light the divine spark that later flames in hallowed motherhood, and the race advances out of the shadows of the valley upward to the sunlit mountain tops where breezes run fresh and the trees wig-wag the stars.

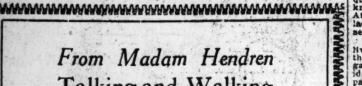

-The doll is an active agent of biological progress, onward and upward. It is an experiment in immortality. Therefore let all little girls have dolls-rag dolls if need be-talking and walking dolls like these, if possible.

A FEATURE OF TRAVEL

For Atianta Negro Cateress

No Allure in White House

My Friends Are Here, Willie Daniels Tells "First Lady"

The kitchens of the white house are a marvellous institution. Every appliance known to the culinary art is included in their equipment. Every delicacy that the markets offer give an unlimited range to the skill in preparation and serving of the chef de cuisine. The subordinate servants are skilled and numerous. And then the head of the kitchens has the satisfaction of bringing pleasure and comfort to the persons who occupy the nation's highest exactly what a tremendous effect on a statecraft well prepared meals have been responsible for.

But the white house kitchens hold small aiurement for Willie Daniels, of Atlanta. For more than a quarter of a century this well-known negro caterer has presided in Atlanta kitchens whenever particular importance was placed on the serving of a meal.

She is skilled in the cookery that lives up to the best traditions of the south. Persons from afar have gained some vivid and enduring ideas of southern hospitality after partaking of one of Willie's dinners. So Thursday, when Mrs. Harding, the first lady of the land, was to be entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Lee Asheraft, Mrs. Asheraft brought Willie into requisition. The luncheon was a masterplece of culinary art. The food melied in the mouth. The service was dainty and attractive. Mrs. Harding merities of the south. The service was dainty and attractive. ### CHARLES ISSUES TERSE MESSAGE.

Budapest, October 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—I mmaculately clad in the uniform of a Hungarian general, former Emperor Charles, a prisoner in the bands of the people over whom he made an abortive attempt to re-cstablish sovereignty, today issued the following terse message through The Associated Press correspondent:

ted plants and yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Jane Harwell was beautiful in a gown of saphire blue velvet.

Mrs. Harwell wore a handsome gown of black velvet and georgette exquisitely embroidered in gold.

Miss Anna Harwell, sister of the bride-elect, wore a dainty frock of cream embroidered net over blue satin.

The guests included the members. message through The Associated Press correspondent:

"I was sure my people would offer resistance, so I gave orders to withdraw when the government troops opened fire. Nothing can persuade me to provoke, civil war. I trust providence and the fature will bring harmony between the Hungarian nation and its sovereign."

Charles and ex-Empress Zita were seen by the correspondent as they paused at the railway station of Szekesfehervar, near the shores of Lake Balton, on their way to Tihany, abbey from Esterhazy castle, where the erstwhile royal pair were captured after last Sunday's battle.

Except for the military escort, the ex-rulers gave no appearance of being prisoners. Charles looked fresh in his general's uniform and the ex-empress was neatly clad in a plain gray dress.

Prince Esterhazy, their host during their brief sojourn at Tata-Tovaros, was accompanying them to their new temporary residence. Mrs. McNeice, who accompanied the body to Macon, collapsed at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roberts, 673 Mulberry street, after the funeral and newspapermen who sought to talk with her were unable to do so. It was indicated, however, that she will make a statement after she recovers.

FOR COLDS AND GRIPPE FOLLOW DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Any physician or druggist will tell you that the first step in the treatment of a cold, cough, sore throat, influenza or grippe should invariably be a brisk calomel purgative, preferably the nausealess calomel tablet called Calotabs. This alone is often sufficient to break up a severe cold over night, or cut short an attack of grippe and possibly prevent pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasures or work. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system is purified and refreshed. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages; price then cents for the vest pocket size; thirty-five cents for a large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists everywhere. Price refunded if you are not delighted.—(adv.)

NO STRIKE!

The country is to be felicitated upon the fact that there is to be no railroad tie-up. Whatever differences there are between the railroads and the emplovees will in due course be settled by the government through established channels of authority. The instrumentalities of the national government are capable of handling such a situation as this: and for both sides thus to put the burden of settling the

Purpose and Plans Of Forestry Committee

Aims of Committee.
The first efforts of our Georgia oward the attendance and the in-Loille Belle Wylle, Mrs. Robert T. Daniels, and other members of this committee were liberaries of the press.

Our legislature, then in session, saw it to create the Georgia State Board of Forestry for the present condition of our forests, the matter of luture timber supplies, and for making such recommendations to the sensor pointed out. In one of his foreful articles is The Constitution. The constitution: It may be of interest to the many unemployed men and contractors who read your for the many unemployed men and contractors who read your for the many unemployed men and contractors who read your for the many unemployed men and contractors who read your for the many unemployed to the men and contractors who read your for the many unemployed to the men and contractors who read your fact to the many unemployed to the men and contractors who read your fact to the many unemployed to the men and contractors who read your fact the men and contractors who read your fact to men and contractors who read your fact to men and contractors who read your fact to men and contractors who read your fact the many unemployed to the men and contractors who read your fact the many unemployed to t nor for this purpose is headed by the state geologist. It is the pur-pose and privilege of our Georgia Forestry committee now to be of all assistance possible to this state board of forestry.

Our Georgia committee is now omposed of about 100 representative citizens and a meeting of the full membership will be called at an early date to perfect plans for the extension of activities through forestry clubs in every county in Georgia. That "forestry is every-Georgia. That "torestry is every body's problem" and that the practice of well defined policies for reforestation and protection are matters that the general public should become familiar with, has no longer any room for deubt in the minds of thinking citizens; but how the individual owner can afford to grow harvest that crop dividual owner can afford to grow trees as a crop, harvest that crop most profitably, and perpetuate forests for the benefit of his children's children, are questions that should be answered by a determined and enightened public sentiment. Georgia need not delay this matter of a state forestry program until our timber supply is entirely gone and we find ourselves in the same boat with some of the Great Lake states where thousands of acres of stumps and sand do not even have a few seed trees of the most valuable species and where artificial reproduction will be costly.

National Park Plan.

Our Georgia forestry committee has not had an opportunity as yet has not had an opportunity as yet to indorse the national park idea for north Georgia which The Con-stitution and the secretary of state and the Federated Women's Clubs and the rederated woman's clause are interested in, and which would undoubtedly be a great blessing to the south. As a native Georgian, the writer is as much pleased as any the writer is as much pleased as any other citizen that our state has the ideal location for such a park here, but all of this would not relieve our state of its fosponsibility in south Georgia and other sections when we consider the great need of reforestation on cut-over lands and the matter of encouragement to our citizens to perpetuate future supitizens to perpetuate future sup-lies of all forest products, through onservative use.

If breast feeding is not possible, then pure fresh raw milk (cow's, goat's) should be given, modified to suit the baby's age and condition. FELLOW PRISONER

Ed Hogan, serving a year on a whisky sentence, was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury Friday afternoon for his alleged attack on Cleveland Clarke, a fellow prisoner, Wednesday. He is charged with assault and battery.

At the time of the affair no publicity was given the altercation, but it became known at the courthouse Friday that the grand jury had the entire matter under investigation.

According to a statement from Clarke, he had fallen into the bad graces of the other prisoners when he turned state's evidence in a case of car breaking against H. G. Campbell in the superior court several weeks ago. Campbell was found guilty and given a sentence of from one to three years. When the reading was concluded there was vigorous applause, mostly from the republican side. Mr. Blanton, sitting in the second row, looked on, but had nothing to say.

Strike in Protest Against Conviction

Montevideo, October 28.—As a protest against the conviction in Massachusetts of the two communists, Sacco and Vanzetti, all business came to a standstill when the Federation of Labor ordered a general one-day strike. All banks were closed, no taxicabs were operated, and only one newspaper was able to publish. The red flag was flown over buildings under construction.

The American consulate was guarded by 30 soldiers, and a regiment of cavalry encamped in the heart of the city to prevent any disorder. There were no disturbances, and the workers will return to their jobs Saturday.

A call was issued by the chamber of commerce this afternoon for a mass meeting to be held at the city auditorium Sunday afternoon, to discuss means of stopping the flood of crime that has attacked this city for the past two weeks, and to give public expression to the condemnation of law violations here.

Prominent men and women will speak, and it is expected that strong measures will be suggested to stop crime here, especially the persistent and increasing prevalence of bootlegging.

The body of a negro with a life preserver attached to it bearing the name "Kona, of Roslyn," found on the beach near Mayport yesterday, was the lirst evidence that a wreck had occurred in that vicinity. The wreck of the Kona was found on the end of the south jetty.

A report was current among marine men last night that a vessel with a cargo of liquor had been wrecked off Mayport and that quantities of bottled contraband had been thrown upon the beach. It was not established whether the reported cargo was aboard the Kona. The Kona, which was built at Baltimore in 1909, was only 29 feet long, equipped with a 20-horse-power motor, and shipping records show that the vessel carried a crew of four men. It is believed the entire crew perished, as residents of Mayport declare the sea Tuesday night and Wednesday morning was the highest they had seen in many years.

Analyses of the individual reports show that in practically every instance the number and total value of dwelling permits was largely increased over corresponding figures for September, 1920, and that where decreases are shown in the total permits, as compared with those for September, 1920, and that where decreases are shown in the total permits, as compared with those for September a year ago, such decreases are caused by the issuance during September, 1920, of permits for large buildings, including apartment houses, churches, schools and brick business building; with permits of these classifications appreciably smaller for the month just ended.

'In permits issued for dwellings, however, September, 1921, figures are appreciably lerger, both for number and total value, than figures for September a year ago. There is a note of improvement from all parts of the district, but some of the banks express some disappointment that liquidation of cotton and other agricultural paper has not been made as rapidly as had been expected following the rise in the price of cotton and the estimates by the department of agriculture of large crops of other products.

"It is naturally expected that the carryover of cotton and much of the present crop would be disposed of upon the recent advance, which almost doubled the price in a little more than 60 days, but it appears that in some localities there is a strong tendency to hold for further advance. While, therefore, conditions in other lines have been materially improved as a result of the rise in the price of the staple, the producers themselves in some parts of the district are still without benefit because of their desire to realize more from the market hex yet. of the district are still without ben-efft because of their desire to real-ize more than the market has yet offered. ### New York Makes Tech Favorite; MISS STIRLING Columbus Prepared for Giant Tornado Confident of Victory LOSES AGAIN

Foster Sanford's Dope Sends Odds Tumbling to Georgians-Big Town Football Wild.

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY.

New York City, October 28.—(Specail.)—The celebrated Georgia Techren State case is almost in the grasp of the jury. Closing arguments were staged this afternoon, and the football world is getting eady to receive the verdict.

The verdict, Golden Tornado supporters assert, will be a sweeping victory for the Georgians and complete justification for Dixle's method of playing the collegiate pastime. Similar assurances are pouring in from Garden City, L. I., where the Nittany Lions and their followers are holding sway. The morrow will see the discussion settled beyond all doubt.

The scenery has sifted to Georgian.

The scenery has sifted to Georgia Tech. Foster Sanford, whose Rutgers eleven was lambasted by the Tornado last Saturday, came out in a statement in The New York iterald this morning declaring that Penn State would never be able to hold the lunges of the southerners. This had bad effect on the wagers if nothing else. Odds, said to exist on the Pennsylvanians, drifted to even money and tonight there seems to be little of that.

Free Scoring Predicted.

New York sporting writers are falling in with this belief. Half of them are predicting a Tech victory and the others see nothing worse than an even break for the Jackets. The general belief, and one that is shared by many of the Tech followers, is that the game will be tree-scoring affair, with few of the guesses on total score running below 28 points.

Mississippi A. & M. college scored its eleventh footbail victory over the Universty of Mississippi here today, wining 21 to 0. Over 5,000 spectators from all parts of the state witnessed the contest.

The two teams were evenly matched, although "Ole Miss" had the heaviest line which it has been able to put in the field in years. The experience of the Aggies' players more than counterbalanced this advantage. A. & M. completed five forward passes for good gains, while "Ole Miss" completed but three. Little made all three of the touchowns for the Aggies, while McGowan with the famous "Glory to Old Georgia" music-makers, will arrive here at practically the same hour. Georgia coaches would venture no prediction as to the outcome beyond a laconic "It'll be a good game and a close one."

It is considered probable that Georgia's backfield will be composed at the start of the game, of Hartley, Tanner, Spicer and Thompson. On the injured list are Randali, Collings, Reynolds and Fitts, but it is believed that at least three of these will get into the game when it becomes necessary.

The line is in good condition from end to end. Whatever the results, the battle bids fair to be one of the closest, most gruelling and cleanest fought ever staged in the south.

Wingfoot Heels

BY ROY E. WHITE. The "Thin Red Line" of G. M. A. added another victory to its string Friday afternoon when they beat the Carroliton A. & M. eleven by a score of 14 to 0.

The Carroliton team threw a scare into the G. M. A. eleven soon after the game began when the cadets started a series of fine bucks that carried the ball to the 10-yard line, but then and there the Carroliton eleven came to its senses and held the cadets like a stone wall. Again in the first quarter the G. M. A. team had visions of a touchdown, for they were hitting the light Carroliton line like it was nothing but Coach Burbage's men were taken by another surprise when they were again stopped within sight of a touchdown.

taken by another surprise when they were again stopped within sight of a touchdown.

Neither team scored in the first quarter, but the cadets began playing an entirely different style of football and by a series of passes, short end runs and several line bucks, they carried the ball to Carrollton's 10-yard line, where King, playing end for G. M. A., received a short pass for a touchdown. The half ended with the score 7 to 0.

In the third quarter it began to look as if the cadets were to be overtaken by the light Carrollton backfield, but an intercepted pass by a G. M. A. man, took the heart out of Carrollton. Both teams fought hard to score in the third, but when either, goal line was threatened the other side would hold like a stone wall.

The third quarter saw the best playing of the afternoon, for G. M. A. scored another touchdown by straight football. The line bucking of Erwin, substituted for Cummings, was a feature of the quarter. Carrollton pulled several double passes for long gains. The G. M. A. team was completely dumfounded on each one of these plays, for the man carrying the ball had no interference whatever. Choice, fullback for Carrollton, was the man that did the ground gaining for Carrollton.

The work of Captain Simowitz Erwin and Parkins was the best in the backfield for the cadets, while Raker and King played well in the line.

Everything is all set for the last home game of the Petrels this afternoon at Ponce de Leon, where they tie up with the Chattanooga Moccasins. The game is te start promptly at 3 o'clock, and, according to Frank Anderson, director of Oglethorpe athletics, a report on the score by quarters of the Tech-Penn and other important games will be made to the fans.

In final preparation the Petrel varsity reported on Hermance field yesterday afternoon and went through a snappy signal drill. All of the first stringers are in shape and "Runt" Hamrick and Hugh Turner, who have been out ten days with injuries, will probably get in today's fracas, although they will not start.

Then there's not any Nittany, not any, replied this reporter to himself. And started to give up his self-inflicted chase until a very lovely voice sounded from a very lovely voice sounded from a very lovely face and insisted that this very lovely name be interpreted. That was different.

So, equipped with a Sears and Roebuck catalogue of the vintage of 1901, a pair of shears, a magnifying glass, three atlases, a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, compound, a salt cellar, tennis shoes and a pair of bathing trunks, the reporter set out to get the information or die in the attempt. light when the gate receipts failed to materialize and the situation was explained to him carefully.

It seems as if the talk of another major league never will down and that there always will be persons who imagine they can make a fortune out of baseball. The promoture of the Brotherhood lost millions, the American league backers poured huge fortunes into the sport and the fallure of the league was at hand when the National, which had gone broke fighting it, agreed to a compromise. The Federal league cost at least $10,000,000 and did the sport ten times that much harm; yet they talk of organizing another major league.

There are two things which prevent: First, there are not enough good players to fill one major it league, let alone three.

Second, few persons are willing to put up $2,000,000 each, form eight clubs and take a chance on winning to bublic favor.

The promoters this time planned well; they decided that, instead of or organizing, then trying to bribe players to jump contracts, they would encourage them in their grievances, persuade them to rebel against organized baseball, force organized ball to punish them by suspension and then offer them is jobs and go before the fans with a plea that these men were mistreated.

Welcome Cohan as Owner. The baseball fans of every city n the country will welcome George d. Cohan as a baseball club owner in the country will welcome George M. Cohan as a baseball club owner. His coming into the sport is a decided improvement and he brings into the game fine ideas of sportsmanship, as well as showmanship. It is seldom that a good showman is a good baseball man, or the other way around. Most of the showmen know the game only as fans and outsiders and constantly confuse the hox office with the playing field. Most of the baseball men have poor business judgment. John T. Bush, C. A. Comiskey and a few others combined 5-th elements. Cohan knows baseball as well as any player or magnate and it is certain he knows the show business. Besides that he is one of the best and cleanest sportsmen in the country.

the best and cleanest sportsmen in the country.

He would in all probability have made a major league bail player had he decided to devote his time to the diamond instead of the stage. He was fast, fielded well, and hit cleverly. He probably organized more ball clubs than any man excepting the professional organizers, as he founded a team in every town in which he ever lived and played on them all. After he became rich and had made a fortune in the theatrical game he continued to play ball; and still does at every opportunity. He chums with umpires and ball players and knows the inside of the same. Yet he is one of the sanest fans I ever knew. There is a pretty story about Cohan. Before the infamous 1919 world's series he was in Cincinnatiand watched the Reds. They were so much better than he expected that he decided to lay his wagers on them. Then he went to Chiefer that he decided to lay his wagers on them. Then he went to Chicago and remarked that he believed the Reds would beat the White Sox Years before Comiskey, his friend, had made Cohan a member of the White Sox, a member of the Woodland Bards and a Dugan. The Big Change in Style.

The great change in the using up of men. In our day we were lucky to have eleven players, and the success of the team depended largely upon being able to keep the team on the field. Substitutes were scarce and usually not well trained. Putting a sub in generally meant the wreck of team work, so we all tried to stick it out no matter how, badly shaken up. In the new game—as in war, the value of fresh shock troops has become immense. To use men for certain plays, drive them hard, throw in fresh material and to use men specially fitted for certain work is good football. Stage worked it perfectly. He developed four full sets of backfield men, all coached in a simple set of plays and he used them to hold the terrific pace he set for them. How he used them against Princeton can be judged by the fact that Timme smashed through the line eleven out of the first thirteen plays and once Cole hit the line six times in succession. No one man can stand such battering ram plays—and Starg Jerked them out as fast as they showed signs of tiring and threw in fresh material.

Railroad Stocks Gain On Strike Settlement Allied

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, October 28.—With the leaders of the railroad brother-hoods calling off the strike overnight, attention at the opening of the stock market was centered on the railway shares. The response was an advance of from a fraction to 2 points or more above last night's closing. The oils were also strong. Steel common sold at 81 early in the day, the highest point touched since May, when the price was 86½. In June it was as low as 70½. Studebaker was one of the stocks to make a high level for this movement. Pacific Oil was another.

The calling off of the strike was more gratifying to the general public than to many Wall street holders of railway securities. In many quarters of the fine-scial district today the opinion was expressed that the latest developments in the railroad situation settled nothing permanently except the reduction in grain rates recently ordered by the interstate commerce commission. The statement of the labor leaders that they had given up because the entire administration was against them was not taken seriously, the general feeling here being that the men had won in their fight to prevent a postponement at least in the proposed 10 per cent cut in wages. According to railway officials here, however, the managers are to go ahead and ask the railroad labor board for permission to cut wages 10 per cent, thus placing the responsibility of a delay on the board.

Another installment of railway earnings for September was forthcoming today. In most cases there was a sharp falling off in gross compared with the same month of last year, with a slight decrease in net operating income. Delaware and Hudson reported $3,839,000 gross for this September a loss of $1,197,000, with net operating income at 5564,000, a decrease of $501,000. For the nine months gross was up $2,198,000 and net operating income was larger by $4,870,000. Northwestern showed a decrease of $2,927,000 in September gross and a loss of $609,000 in net operating income. Louisville's gross was down $1,728,000, with an increase in operating income of $181,000. With a loss of $2,450,000 in gross, Southern reported a gain in net operating income of $1,234,000.

So far sixteen large railroads show a decrease in gross for September of $4,352,000 or 2.5 per cent compared with August of this year and a loss in net operating income of $3,683,000 or 11.1 per cent. Compared with September of last year there is a decrease in gross of $46,847,000 or 21.8 per cent and a decrease in net operating income of $4,210,000 or 17.9 per cent. From these few roads it appears that the net operating income for September will be some $5,000,000 under the $90,000,-000 reported for August, which amounted to 5 per cent on the property account of the carriers

Pacific Oil made another new high record with today's opening of 47½, which compares with 27¼, the price of a few months ago. This company, which originally belonged to the Southern Pacific railroad, will turn up speculative Wall street is predicting as a subsidiary of Standard Oil.

ing over until the following Monday, seems a regular thing. Austrian exchange made a new low record today for all time, but German marks were strong on rumors that Germany was negotiating a loan in England. Today's weekly prices for eight principal iron and steel products stands at $46.45 a ton against $47.28 a week ago, $48.20 a month ago, $85.03, the high for last year, $119 the high for the war period and $35.80 during the summer of 1913, a typical pre-war price.

All but one of the federal reserve banks, which are far below the average of 70.8, reported today by the twelve institutions as a whole for their reserve ratio show an improvement in their reserve figures. Richmond which was 45.5 at this time last year and 44.7 a week ago, reports 45.2 Atlanta 45.5 a year ago and 40.5 a week ago pow shows 41.5. market today responded to the abandonment of the proposed railroad stilke by an active session in which sales approximated 1,000,000 shares and leading rails, industrials and many specialties scored extreme gains of 1 to 3 points.

Shorts contributed largely to today's movement, covering contracts in almost every branch of the list. In almost every branch of the list, but commission houses reported a substantial investment inquiry from local and out-of-town sources.

Steels, equipments, motors, coppers and a wide variety of miscellaneous issues contributed their proportion to the day's large and diversified operations under professional guidance. Domestic oils, the real features of the past weeks, continued to move forward. California issues again being most prominent. Realizing or profit-taking sales made little impression until the final hour, when reactions by one or two points resulted in an casy close. Order, Closing at Decline of the day were decidedly at conflict and a trading market of unusual activity resulted.

In the early trading the favorable railroad strike news of overing the results of the french rate, which was comparatively steady.

Railroad bonds also strengthened full of rumors of financial trouded to the strike settlement and domestic industrials were moderately better.

were absorbed on reactions of 8 or 10 points as a result of covering. New Orleans buying, commission house and trade support, December advanced to 19.41 and March to 19.10 with active months generally showing net gains of 24 to 25 points during the middle of the morning. Bullish private crop estimates and reports of steady southern spot markets contributed to this improvement, but the higher prices met some hedge selling, and the market weakened during the middle of the day owing to closing declines in Liverpool selling and renewed liquidation. The weakness of foreign exchange was an unsettling feature and while there was another rally during the middle of the afternoon on bullish week-end figures, prices reached the lowest levels of the day in the late trading. December sold off to 18.95 adm March to 18.69, closing within a few points of the lowest. PROFESSIONAL VIEWS

ON COTTON SITUATION New York, October 28.—(Special.)—Our market has been quiet and fairly steady during the greater part of the day. The local tradic were rather disappointed that the settlement of the railroad strike failed to bring in more buying, but we find that this has been reflected in a better demand for print cloths in New England and a better spot demand in the Atlantic states. We expect a steadily improving market as the country gets back its confidence now that the strike has been averted.

WHY MR. NOYES DID NOT QUIT THE FARM

Made a Most Happy Discovery After 25 Very Painful Years.

A. C. Noyes, a prominent citizen of Richmond, Me., writes the Priest Drug Co., Bangor, Me.:—

I am 60 years of age and a farmer. For 25 years I have suffered with indigestion, yet have been able to care for my farm. But many times during the past 10 years I thought I must quit farming and sell out, Mr. Bibber, a druggist at Richmond, told me to try Priest's Indigestion Powder which I did with immediate good results. My greatest trouble was terrible sour acid stomach. Your remedy would help me right off, and after a few doses for a day or so would feel fine.

If you care to use my name in recommending it you are at liberty to do so.

Arthur Hopkins, Robert Edmond Joses and Lionel Basymore will soon be known as the three mus-keteers of the theater. They fail occasionally, but when they suc-ced the result is magnificent. This ceed the result is magnificent. This time they have succeeded in their production of "The Claw," an American adaptation of Henri Bernstein's French tragedy. There is no finer performance today in New York than that of Lionel Barrymore as the great French editor shorn of his clean power by the influence of his young, pretty and unscrupulous wife. "The Claw" is recommended as the first play on any list of those that should be seen on a trip to New York.

"Uncle, little Uncle, give a scrap of bread."

This cry from the starving millions, a little chila calling a foreign stranger, "Uncle," and begging only for "a scrap of oread," recalls our kinship through Jesus Christ, our "elder brother." to all of the children of the world.

Think of the multitudes, who could be fed and clothed with the billions of dollars being spent in preparing for wars, in which, if they come, women and children will suffer as never before. Consider the madness of the present moment, when wheat is rotting in barns and maize is being burned for fuel, while elsewhere people are dying of bamger. Dr. Nansen, speaking before the league of nations assembly said:

"In the United States wheat is decomposing in the farmer's stores because they cannot find purchasers for the surplus. In Argentine, maize is lying in such abundance that they cannot get rid of it, and it is being used as fuel in locomotives because that is the only way in which they can use it.

"Between us and America ships are lying idle; we cannot find employment for them; and on the other side, in the east, twenty to thirty million people are starving to death."

And the miserable are not confined with the madness of bolshevism to Russia.

Miserable Everywhere.

Miserable Everywhere.

Returning travellers from Poland reported as the result of war.

"The prattle of little children is not heard in Poland. All under five are dead of cold and hunger."

Only the other day in England, where two million laborers are witnout work, police and the jobless fought in London and Leicester. Fifty thousand wretched rioted through Trafalgar square.

Among America's unemployed, are between 600,000 and 700,000 of those men and boys who risked their lives as soldiers in the war. Twenty to twenty-five million people face a winter of hunger and want in this land of the free because four to five million seek in vain for work, work to enable them to feed and clothed themselves, their wives and children.

Have we not learned enough from death, starvation, suffering women and children, the tax collector, spreading unemployment, and commerce dying, together with the inevitable financial bankruptcy of the nations, if the competition in building battleships and preparing for war continues?

foot socks, muslin slings and abdominal bandagès, assembled by the hands of loving women and girls during the war.

A million of these kits had been left unused, not needed, thank God, for binding wounds and comforting our dying soldiers, after peace had come. The kits were in Paris still. A wire started them rushing to Hungary. The eight-inch bags were ripped apart to make little dresses, petitocats and boys' suits. What mattered it, if they were things of patches? They warmed little bodies. "Trench-foot socks," writes Rose Wilder Lane, "have made soft little caps and jackets for the bables forn every week. New-born bables are very small; an unbleached mustlin sling will make a whole night gown for one. The abdominal bands are still better. Happy is the Hungarian mother who has an entire abdominal band from which to make clothes for her baby."

Now all of the comfort kits are gone. Bables continue being born. But, as the result of war, even rags are still a luxury. Cloth there is none. And this winter, just ahead, will be as cruel as last, when one week, a Red Cross worker in Hungary saw every day a child's feet amputated, because they were At Inman Park Presbyterian church the Sunday program will be as follows: At 9:30 a, m. Accident Te Every Registered Subscriber Insurance Policy give this protection to the entire family on the following conditions: Any and all members of a family from 16 to 70 years of age may secure this insurance pro viding they all live at one address, and provided one member of this family signs for the daily and Sunday Constitution for one year. If two or more families live at one address in the same house or home, each family desiring the insurance protection must subscribe for The Atlanta Constitution. Each member of the family desiring a policy must sign "Order and Registration Form" and accompany it with 75c for registration fee for his or her policy.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Old As Well As New Subscribers May Secure This Policy By special arrangement with the North American Accident Insurance Company, we can now

More than 1,529 accidents in Atlanta during the last 18 months caused by autos, steam cars and street cars. The Accident and Pedestrian Insurance offered by The Constitution would have covered almost all those accidents.

You may be next. Why not protect yourself and family today? No red tape-no medical examination-every man or woman from 16 to 70 eligible.

All you have to do to get this insurance is to be a subscriber to The Atlanta Constitution. The only charges for this policy is seventy-five cents (75) for covering the cost of securing and handling. Pay for The Daily and Sunday Constitution at the regular price.

wishes more areactly than France for the success of the Washington conference.

France has emerged, well-nigh spent, from a war wherein she sustained for many long months, almost alone, the shock of the enemy's assault. She did everything possible to avoid that war. She has come out of it victorious. She has, therefore, decisive reasons for being firmly and forever devoted to the maintenance of pence. I know very well that German propaganda continues to belie her attitude and her intentions: Germany hopes to propriate the picture of an imperialistic France, thirsty for conquest in the minds of ill-informed people. Only the other day, Mr. Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador at Paris, and General Pershing, protested loudily against the absurd legend. Both of them know France well, and both of them have seen her work—the former in peace and the latter in war. They know that in 1914 she made all possible efforts to preserve the peace, and that if she did valiantly undergo war, she was only dragged into it in spite of herself, and in order to defend her own bodf.

Showed Peaceful Attitude.

To be sure, France was in other days just what European nations were before the advent of democracy. It was her fate that she was conducted by some overbold kings, hungry for glory, into wars of pomp and ostentation, and as the French armies were brave, one might very well believe that France herself was pleased with those brilliant feats of arms. But when the revolution was accomplished, and when France had applied at home the principles of liberty and national sovereignty, which America had already proclaimed, she immediately signified her peaceful attitude to other peoples. If monarchist Europe had not then formed a coalition against her, and had not sought to stifle her new ideals, it would not have been France who took the iniative in hostillities. She defended herself, she triumphed over the formidable conspiracy formed against the revolution, and it was then that she was driven by the military genius of Napoleon into transforming little by little that defensive war into a war of conquest.

But, as great as Napoleon was, he was only man; he was not France, and France has pald dearly for the glory he gave her. It is but fitting to add that the wars he waged, at least in the first part of his spendid career, often exercised a beneficient influence upon the political and social status of Europe. In many a land which was still bent under a sort of feudal regime, he appeared as the messenger of the modern spirit and as the herald of the revolution. In Germany itself, up to 1806, he retained that appear ance.

The conclusion can not be drawn today, from the ancient conquests of Showed Penceful Attitude.

seized the occasion to make some important statement which entirely agreed with the indications which I have already given to our friends in America. No nation in the world wishes more ardently than France for the success of the Washington conference.

France has emerged, well-nigh spent, from a war wherein she sustained for many long months, almost alone, the shock of the enemy's assault. She did everything possible to avoid that war. She has come out of it victorious. She has, therefore, decisive reasons for being firmly and forever devoted to the maintenance of peace. I know the ministers and sassuit. She did everything possible to avoid that war. She has therefore, decisive reasons for being firmly and forever devoted to the maintenance of peace. I know the ministers and sassuit. She did everything possible to avoid that war. She has therefore, decisive reasons for being firmly and forever devoted to the maintenance of peace. I know the militarism. Nowhere is the civil power more firmly fixed in the civil power more firmly saw all the French generals at close range during the war, and there was not a single one who was not full of deference to ward the president of the republic, toward the ministers and sassault. She did everything possible to avoid that war. She has constitutional structure and an intellectual substratum which are both entirely incompation. Nowhere is the civil power more firmly fixed in the civil power more firmly fixed in the civil power more firmly saw all the French generals at close range during the war, and there was not a single one who was not full of deference to ward the president of the civil power more firmly fixed in the civil power more firmly saw all the civil power more firmly saw all the french generals at close range during the war, and there was not a single one who was not full of deference to ward the president of the civil power more firmly saw all the civil

Suppose, for example, that someone of them could have been capable of being lacking in his civil duties; suppose that, haloed by victory, some of them might have had the hind-thought of setting them; selves up in opposition to the republican government; they would immediately have been casavowed by the entire country, and their brilliant renown would not have survived that tentative. But such a supposition is injurious and insensate; sons of democracy, as they are, they had no trouble in respecting the laws. Disavowal Would Come, had no trouble in respecting the laws.

This is due to the fact that there is not a single element in France which one could call warilke. There are people who have known how to direct war, because they have learned strategy and tactics in order to defend us in case of attack; there are millions of citizens who fought with fierce energy up to the day of victory—and of whom 1,400,000 died to save their country. But there is not a single man who has a taste for war, or who is fool enough to wish it to begin again.

On the contrary, the French peoon the contrary, the French people, in its immense majority, is a sentimental people, with an instinctive and traditional lover for humanity, and which itself likes to be beloved. During the course of centuries it has had that characteristic of chivalrous generosity, and its democratic customs have only served naturally to develop that hereditary tendency. How could liberal and humane France, which furthermore is today victorious and has nothing to expect from a new war—how could France wish, for tomorrow or later, a reopening of the conflict? To do so she would have to be struck with madness.

She looks forward, then, to the

To do so she would have to be struck with madness.

She looks forward, then, to the moment when she will be free to disarm. There is not a single French family which the war has not plunged into mourning. No one of them, consequently, could witness with joy the return of their young men to the barracks instead of consecrating their activity to the renaissance of their country. But, nevertheless, all these families so sorely tried are forced to say to themselves: "We do not wish to be duped; we have suffered enough; we do not intend to be, tomorrow or later, at the mercy of a new attack from Germany.

Disarmament Principal Subject of Parley, Asserts Inscrutable Nippon Warrior, Admiral Kato.

> BY ROBERT J. BENDER nited News Staff Correspondent. Washington, October 28.-Japan would like to see, as soon as possible, the American plan for limiting naval armament. Vice Admiral Kato, of the imperial Japanese navy, head of Japan's naval commission to the arms conference, has so advised Secretary of the Navy Denby. Further, the suave but inscrutable warrior declared plainly that Japan regards the limitation of naval forces as the "principal subject" to which the conference will devote itself. And for this reason, he suggest-up to 1806, he retained that appearance.

Miss J. Turner, a young woman of the conclusion can not be drawn to enter for the regular theological of Far Eastern problems. She would like to see arms considered first. Any delay, therefore, in completing the American plan to be advanced as a basis for limitation and reductions. ion, would naturally tend to throw the conference into a discussion of Pacific questions before armament Pacific questions before armament was taken up.

Kato, both in his exchange of greetings with Denby and in a statement he issued earlier studiously omitted reference to that phase of the conference having to do with Oriental problems. In fact, there was a trace of warning against possible friction when, in a prepared statement, he said:

Conciliation Essential.

"In a conference of this nature the first essential to success is the spirit of conciliation and non-interference among the nations. May I not suggest the motto of 'Give and take, live and let live,' which has been so aptly put by some writer in America? In this spirit I am convinced that the conference will be able to arrive at a just and effective understanding and to measure up to the high expectations of the world."

It so happened that Kato's naive

It so happened that Kato's naive and unexpected suggestion for speed in producing the American formula came almost coincidentally with a conference between the American delegation—Hughes, Root, Under-wood and Lodge—on the one hand, and leading naval authorities on the and leading naval authorities on the other, during which data bearing upon the American naval plan was studied. In this conference were Admiral R. E. Coonts, chief of operations and ranking officer of the United States navy; Captain W. V. Pratt, now on the general board of the navy, and, during the war, assistant chief of operations under Admiral Benson, and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. This trio, it is understood, constitutes the advisory commission which will represent the navy at the arms conference.

Lambs Selling For 60 Cents Each in Asia

With Greek Army in the Field, October 29.—(The Associated Press.) Americans who find life expensive would secure unbounded relief if they could come to Anatolia.

In the area through which the Greek army passed in its advance on Angora, Imbas sell for 60 cents each, chickens for 12 cents, whole cows for 39, and eggs for half a cent. Everywhats food is found in great abundance and at prices such as America never heard of even before the war.

The fertile fields of Anatolia rival those of the most productive American state. Wheat is the principal commodity of the thrifty Turkish and kurd farmers. They raise sufficient quantities to feed a continent. When King Constantine's army make its memorable 30-mile advance from Ushak into the heart of the Kemalist country, it found hundreds of thousands of tons of wheat and grain. It is the plan of the Greek government to market this huge treasure in an effort to bring the Greek currency back to par.

The Greeks also found incalcula-ble numbers of cattle and sheep. Cows, oxen and water-buffalo swarm the plains of Asia Minor, while the famous Angora goats and Cara-man sheep are so numerous that they will sell for the price of a pound of mutton in any American city.

One, two, three months often pass before the application comes back stamped "approved." And the only benedicts who are allowed to remain on the Rhine with their newfound families are such "specialists" as expert mechanics and other invaluable craftsmen whose commanding officers can certify on oath that "their services cannot be spared." The only men in all our Rhine land forces who were in a hurry to have the peace treaty ratified were those who have marriage applications pending before the powers that be. Expert "guardhouse lawyers" have told them that once a state of peace by treaty is established between the United States and the German republic, all they have got to do is to go before the German civil authorities and get married, and the army can go plumb to - However, as armies have a way things, it is not likely that even the senate's ratification of the treaty will suffice to break a custom already established.

A Big Fine Home at a Price Reduction Sometimes we run across a house which we feel like recommending freely; the one we have in mind now has such unusual merit about it that we do not hesitate to commend it to any buyer. This is a big, fine, two-story, slate-roof, brick dwelling, situated on one of the most prominent north side thoroughfares; the location is such that the land value itself is worth considering.

This house has a fine basement fully excavated; cemented and efficient heating plant which keeps the house comfortable all through the winter. The structure of the house is sound, and it is in good condition throughout. This is a durable house, having the best of materials in it, with good workmanship, and anyone not an expert in house building can see at a glance the superior construction of this house.

Moreover, it is a good-looking place, with an elevated lot that affords a splendid view. The price is $16,500, and you could not erect a house for that money today. Two years ago we would have welcomed this as a good listing at $25,000 spot cash, and could have sold it in twenty-four hours at that time. The cost of building houses has gone down considerably since then; but it has not gone down as much as some price reductions, and a great many people do not yet realize what good values can be obtained in ready-built homes. Cordele, Ga., October 29 .- (Special.)-Charged with having burned in his visit through the house, fre-quently asking questions about the ham and Atlantic railway near Hatley, May 29, Justice of Peace Z. H. Winn, J. B. Russell, J. R. Thomas and E. M. Bishop today were bound over to the superior court without bail at their committal trial.

The main witness for the state was O. C. Fairfield, who testified that he brought the defendants to the place of the burning on the night of May 29, and that they used three or four gallons of kerosene oil in setting fire to the trestle, which was about half burned. Large Crowd Attends.

A large crowd attended the trial, there being a large number who came over from Fitzgerald, among being strikers on the A.,

Fairfield's confession has resulted in a score or more indictments on trains, murdering Engineer W. T. Reed, and other crimes

In his statement to the solicitor of the Ben Hill superior court, Fairfield, who is held for murder in connection with the death of Reed, implicated the four men bound over today, and he was brought here to testify.

Fairfield turned state's evidence, declared, because he believed rikers were responsible recently r the burning of his father's home.

Survivors Will Attend.

A feature of great interest will be the presence of six surviving members of the Old Guard peace mission that was made into the northern states in 1879, in an effort to wipe out the hatred that had been engendered by the civil war against the people of the south. This mission was highly successful, and was commemorated by the famous guardsmen by the menument that was erected 10 years ago at the principal entrance to Piedmont park. The survivors of this mission who will attend the ceremonles are Major Charles P. Byrd, present commander of the Old Guard battalion; W. M. Camp, superintendent Pullman Car company; Peter F. Clarke, cashler American Savings bank; W. T. Kuhn, photographer; Colonel Joseph F. Burke, commander of the Gate City Guard at the time of the peace mission, and W. T. Cummings, former chief of the Atlanta fire department.

Immediately following the program at the Peace monument the troops, consisting of the Old Guard battalions and the cadets from the schools and colleges, will be reviewed by Governor Hardwick and a large number of prominent people who will occupy specially constructed stand on the south end of the athlete field at the park.

The parade, which will move from the Georgian Terrace hotel at 2:30 Survivors Will Attend.

Thrown clear of the automobile, Mr.
Andree escaped with a broken shoulder, and severe sprains, bruises and painful cuts. He was taken to Grady hospital in an automobile passing shortly after he clambered back up the embankment.

Mr. Andree states that his plunge over the edge of the road was occasioned by his unintentionally turning on his dimmer, when an automobile was approaching him five miles from Lawrenceville. He says that a factor contributing to his accident was the glare of the approaching automobile's headlights, which its driver did not dim post.

During the recent world war, when the government was calling for volunteers in all lines of endeavor, there were many changes found necessary. In this emergency Mr. Brooks was transferred to Jacobs' main store, at 6 Marletta street, where he remained for about two years. A few days ago he was transferred to the Peachtree and Ponce de Leon store, among whose patrons has has made hosts of friends because of his genial personality and efficiency.

Mr. Brooks wishes to announce to the friends that he will do all in his power to give service of the best type, and all orders sent to the store of which he is in charge will be handled with care; and will be quickly delivered.

Mr. Brooks succeds A. M. Williams, who for some time has been in charge of the Jacobs' store known as Branch 8, at Ponce de Leon and Peachtree street. Mr. Williams has gone to the newest store in the Jacobs' chain, which is located at $86 Highland avenue, corner of Green wood avenue, known as Branch No. 6.

Mr. Williams has been associated with the Jacobs' organization for a number of years, and has profited by their special system of developing their sales and executive organization which has graduated highly capable men. During the recent world war

DR. CHARLES E. WAITS

Receives Important Appointment With Southern States Life Insurance Company.

Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Southern States Life Insurance company, announced Saturday that Dr. Charles E. Waits, of Atlanta, has been elected medical director of the company to succeed Dr. E. G. Jones, whose death occurred recently. Dr. Waits is the third to hold this position. Dr. Jones succeeded the late Dr. W. S. Kendrick, whose the late Dr. W. S. Rendrick, whose association began with the organization of the company 16 years ago. Dr. Waits graduted from the medical department of the Emory university in 1915, which he followed with special courses at the Rockefeller institute and Bellevue hospital, New York, and the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn. He became an associate of Dr. E. G. Jones immediately after graduation, and for the most of this time has been assistant medical director of the Southern States Life, acting as director during the illness of his superior.

The new medical director is a Georgian, born 32 years ago at Rockmart. He is associate visiting physician at Grady hospital; on the staff of the Georgia Baptist hospital; instructor of surgery at Emory university for four years and recently elected associate professor of surgery of that institution. He is a member of the American and the Georgia Medical associations and a member and secretary of the Fulton County association. His training and equipment has been on that broad scope required by insurance science to which he has devoted himself particularly during the past few years.

"It is a source of gratification to our officers and directors," said President Moore, "that the Southern States Life has been able to bring its medical officials up from its own ranks, Dr. Jones having been associated with Dr. Kendrick, and Dr. Waits receiving the full benefit of all that both men gained in the experience of our company." The new medical director is a

The check was received Saturday by Alderman Nelson T. Spratt, act-ing mayor, and was drawn for the sum of $2.594.70. A communication accompanying the check was signed by the citizens' relief committee, of West Point, and is as follows:

PluckyWestPoint Returns Portion Of Relief Funds

West Point, and is as follows:

Committee's Letter.

"The attached check represents a refund of 10 per cent of the amount you so generously contributed to our flood relief, it being found that this residue was left over after all necessary relief had been provided for.

"Three or four months after the flood, this city was visited by a cyclone, and for some time it was thought that all records of the flood relief fund flad been permanently lost. A part of these records were unearthed recently, and it is, therefore, possible to make the enclosed refund. However, we are not able to make individual refunds in all cases—owing to the destruction of records—and where this is not possible, we are drawing the check in favor of the city sending the contribution, hoping that, in the event you are unable to locate the individual donors, you can make some proper disposition of the funds."

Subscriptions totaling the $25,947 relief fund were made up of several hundred donations, from 25 cents to $2,500, which latter amount was appropriated by city council.

Alderman Spratt said Saturday that it would be impossible to locate any but a small number of the donors and suggested that, since the fund were subscribed for relief of suffering in the first place, it be converted to a charitable purpose now. He pointed out the possible need of a coal fund for the poor this winter.

Mr. Spratt expressed his admiration of the indomitable pluck of the Georgia city, which, despite the tremendous damage suffered, refused to use a cent more than was necessary to relieve its most acute needs.

held a rousing meeting here today, protesting against State Chairman Phillips, of Atlanta. The meeting was of white republicans only, and even newspaper representatives, were required to leave the hall. It was a typical Georgia G. O. P. meeting, albeit it was a "Lily White" gathering. Fierce parliamentary battles wased and at one point Colonel Don Clark, prominent Watson man, and for years aggressive national republican, being ruled out of order twice by the chair, bolted the meeting, taking a number of the delegates with him. Resolutions were finally adopted, copies of which are to be sent to State Chairman Phillips. President Harding and national leaders of the party.

The resolution called for the election of officers for the white first district republican organization; called upon State Chairman Phillips be called to explain why the state committee has not been assembled and an executive committee, with suitable powers, created; that in the event Phillips fails to explain the first district chairman's request the vice chairman to call a state committee meeting. protesting against State Chairman

The resolutions voice severe protest against the appointment of any democrat to office in Georgia under the republican administration, and expressed the opinion that there are competent republicans for all official places to be filled.

Dr. B. S. Symons, Savannah, was elected chairman for this district.

There was great lack in every department, but the receivers were determined to build up a raitroad that would meet all these demands and serve its constituents in a satisfactory manner.

"Operating only on the revenue derived from the railroad and without borrowing capital, the receivers first began-their attack on the road-bed. They bought 250 miles of 35-pound steel rails, and most of this has been laid between New Orleans and Baird, Texas, making a heavy track over the whole system. They followed this up with the purchase of 400,000 square yards of ballast and 1,200,000 new crossties. The ballast and the ties practically are all down. Seventy wooden bridges have been replaced by steel and concrete structures. The draw bridges at Melville and Plaquemine, La., have been strengthened and five new water stations have been built.

To Follow Rain Sunday, Says Weather Man.

The first touch of real cold weather of the winter is promised for Sunday, according to the forecast made by C. F. von Herrmann, of the local weather bureau, who predicts rain sometime early Sunday morning. The rain will be followed by cold weather, the temperature probably taking a substantial drop, he adds.

October has been an unusually dry month, total rainfall thus far being but 1.19 inches, which is .33 inches less than the average rainfall for this month. There were 23 consecutive days this October in which no rain fell.

JUDGE JOHN S. POWELL DIES AT NEWNAN

Funeral of Prominent Man Will Be Held This Afternoon at 3 O'Clock.

Newnan, Ga., Ootober 29 .- (Spesoldier, jurist and well-known citizen, died here this morning, following a long illness.

The judge started the practice of law in the early 80's and attained prominence in his profession, also serving several terms as mayor of Newman. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he was appointed to a captaincy by Governor Atkinson, and served two years in Cuba. When the army of occupation was withdrawn, he was transferred with his company to the Philippines and after two years' army service there he was appointed by President McKinley to a judgeship of the first instance in one of the insular provinces. He filled this position from 1902 until 1917, when failing health forced him to resign.

He returned home in the summer of that year, and from that time until his death was rarely able to leave his home.

Judge Powell was 64 years of age. Besides his widow, he leaves seven children, Orman Powell, of Corpus Christi, Texas: Miss Lutie Powell, of Atlanta; Thomas N. Powell, of Manila, P. I.; J. S. Powell, Jr., of Florida; Elwyn Powell, of Carrollton; Mrs. Welborn Davis and J. W. Powell, of Newnan. He is survived also by a sister and two brothers, Miss Annie Powell and Mike Powell of Newnan, and Raphael Powell, of Savannah.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. law in the early 80's and attained

The defense contended that Avery was older by three years and had been successful in a recent fist fight with Walker and that the latter was afraid of Avery; that when the two left the church Avery mentioned his success in the recent fight and stated he could

The state contended that the killng was murder, nothing less, and strongly demanded sentence accordng to law for that crime. The case went to the jury shortly after noon on Saturday and remained out until Tuesday following, when it reported "hopelessiy divided," and was dismissed, the court ordering a mistrial. The defendant was allowed bail in the sum of $1,000.

The exact date of the second trial during criminal week has not been determined yet, but it is thought that the case will be reached not later than Wednesday afternoon. Counsel for both sides are busily nagaged in the preparation of the case for the second trial and a "stir" has been caused by the intimation that new evidence of surprising nature will be injected by the defense into the trial next week.

WOULD CONNECT STATE WITNESSES WITH HOLDUP

Memphis, Tenn., October 29.—Counsel for Edwin von Steinkirch, on trial with T. T. Harriss and Orville and Jesse Jones, on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of Polk A. Carraway, a policeman, shot to death when an attempt was made to rob a Ford Motor company employee of pay roll funds here last August, gave the case a dramatic turn today when he endeavored unsuccessfully to have one state witness identify another of the state's witnesses as one of the quartet of masked bandlis who attempted the robbery.

The witness was unable to se identify the man, but testified that Von Steinkirch was not among the four men who held up the automobile containing the money satchel. The state rested its case at noon after 44 witnesses had testified. The defense, which has summoned more than 50 witnesses, will begin the presentation of evidence Monday.

Today's court session rounded out the sixth week of the trial. Five weeks were taken up in the qualifying of a jury.

TAX REVISION BILL November to Be HIGHSMITH IS FOUND 'Perfect Package' PRESSURE EASES Shipping Month

Business World to Join Carriers to Effort to Reduce Losses.

BY ALVIN LOVINGOOD.

The railroads, steamship lines and express companies of the United States and Canada, through the American Railway association and the American Railway Express company, will inaugurate a nation-wide movement in November for "perfegt packages." November has, therefore, "been named "Perfect Package month."

month."

The employees of the railroads and express carriers are requested to take the initiative in making "Perfect Package" month a great success, and in every city and town will be asked to get together and form local campaign committees. Co-operation of shippers and of civic organizations will be succeed. rganizations will be sought during he movement.

During November, railroad and express employees will be asked to carefully examine all shipments and carefully examine all shipments and to note any shipping errors. Where such are found, notations will be made upon specially prepared "exception reports," which will be sent to the shippers of the packages. A record of the number of "exceptions" found will be kept by the local railroad-express committee, so that a summary may be sent to the shippers' organization co-operating, at stated periods.

"We have now broken the back of the movement to force this bill through without proper consideration," said Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee. "Members on both sides apparently have come to the conclusion, as a result of criticisms, that the bill should be given most careful scrutiny and consideration."

Only two amendments to the bill were disposed of during the six hours the senate was in session to day. Under one change adopted on Missourt, incentage the corporations and individuals would be open to inspection by direction by either house of congress. Under the existing law, these returns are opened for inspection only upon orders of the president.

Explaining the proposal, Senator Reed asid this information should be at the disposal of congress as much of it would be necessary in writing tax and tariff laws. He finance committee, or information as to their profits or salaries.

Before the senate recessed until Monday, Senator Reed also launched his fight for the soldier's bonus, which he has proposed shall be paid out of funds obtained by continuing in a vigorous speech, he declared that his amendment was designed "to pay the bonus from the profits of the war profiteers."

A number of amendments to the tax bill were offered today. Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, formally presented his amendment to the tax bill were offered today. What "Perfect Package" Is.

The assurance that this movement will be a great success is given in the enlistment of the entire working forces of the railroads and the express companies, totaling at least 2,000,000 men in this campaign. How the movement is to be carried out will be fully explained to the agents of the carriers and they will be asked to use their best efforts and their own ideas in accomplishing the results desired.

What constitutes a "perfect package" will have to be determined by the shipper. You can very easily determine when you have an imperfect package if your name as a shipper appears on the "exception reports."

A "perfect" package is a package, regardless of its size or nature, that carries to destination without injury to contents, damage to container or loss of pilfering through insecurity.

This is, however, foolish economy, and it can be proven so to any shipper who ever has a claim to enter or who has shipments refused on account of the many rassons that will be brought forth during this campaign.

chairmanship, but several prominent democrats sald every possible effort would be made to continue party harmony.

Chairman White conferred at the capitol late tonight with several friends, and it was decided that he should be accompanied to St. Louis by Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, chairman of the speakers' bureau during the last presidential campaign. Senator Glass, of Virginia, who was chairman of the platform committee at the San Francisco convention, left Washington on a separate train.

Some reports have said that friends of William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, were behind a plan to have Chairman White suspended. Mr. White's friends, at the same time, said he was willing and anxious to retire if all elements of the party could agree upon a successor.

Friends of Mr. McAdoo were represented as stating that they favored Daniel C. Roper, former internal revenue commissioner, for chairman and denying that, although Mr. Roper is a friend of Mr. McAdoo, the movement involved any aspirations of the former secretary of the treasury.

GROCERS WANT

Not to Blame for H.C.L.

The idea that the rank and file of grocers throughout the country are boosting prices for the sake of realizing exorbitant profits is absolutely

Retail prices have gone up because the retailer has been compelled to put them up. The grocer has to pay more for his goods, more for rent, more for clerks' salaries; consequent-

, must charge more. Shortage of raw materials, of productive labor and a demand that has far outstripped production are the direct causes of present-day prices.
As a rule, the grocer is transacting business on the same percentage of profit as in the days of low selling

Grocers depend upon you for a livelihood. They know just as you know that to cheat in any way, shape or form, would kill their trade outright. Common sense says that no intelligent grocer will attempt to "kite" prices beyond legitimate profits. He can't afford to.

BUSINESS NOT A BED OF ROSES

For Man Behind Counter

Because of a scant supply the grocer often has serious trouble in procuring merchandise. He has to stand the sharp cut of complaints from buyers because of high costs. He all too frequently is blamed, when absolutely blameless. And is not, on a whole, making a wider margin of net profit than he did when conditions were normal, trade better satisfied and business transactions decidedly more

The grocer is your servant. He is in business to serve your require-ments. He doesn't make you a slave to high costs. He is in exactly the same boat you are in. He sells goods you want and ask for. He must meet your demands or get out of business. He has no choice in the matter. He can't go contrary to your wishes. The consumer can do more towards restoring prices to normal levels than the grocer can. This can be accomplished with positive cer-tainty by buying only food products of sound value and proven economy.

of sound value and proven economy. Careless buying and rank extravagance are unquestionably vital factors in maintenance of high costs.

When a consumer forces a grocer to sell a sixty-five-cent article where a thirty-five-cent article would answer the purpose equally well he is encouraging production of high priced goods of short value and hampering the manufacture of food products of sound value and fair prices. On the other hand, when the consumer insists on goods of inferior consumer insists on goods of inferior worth he is inviting inevitable waste that stands for loss rather than that stands for loss rather than economy. In such occurrences the consumer, not the grocer, is at fault. For, remember, the grocer must give you what you want despite the fact that he would rather supply your requirements with goods of sterling value at a minimum cost.

FOOD PRODUCTS Of Utmost Parity and Food Value

If you will but consult your grocer regarding the true values of different grades of goods, you most assuredly will increase the purchasing power of rour dollars and strike straight at one of the main roots of high costs by

of the main roots of high costs by weeding out extravagance. What the buyer demands more than any other one thing determines the market price of commodities of all sorts. If you demand full-value foods, insist upon having them, you will get them and at legitimate prices. Persistent demand for top-price goods of questionable value will then be sharply curtailed and production stimulated in lines of maximum merit. And with this increased production will come lower costs.

production will come lower costs, just as sure as day follows night.

The solution of the problem so far as the consumer is concerned is simas the consumer is concerned is simply this: select only proudcts of recognized value, sold at lowest prices permissible under present conditions—eliminate waste—don't encourage the production of price-heavy products—co-operate with your grocer—don't lose sight of the fact that he must cater to your wishes. Your demand for the right type of goods is the best means at your command to straighted out topsy-turvy conditions which are a burden to the conscientious manufacturer, the square-tions which are a burden to the conscientious manufacturer, the square-dealing grocer and the consumer who are putting forth every effort under the sun to reduce the high cost of production, high cost of merchandising and high cost of living.

Mr. John A. Ulman, President of the National Retail Grocers' Association of the United States, an eminent authority on food values and intimately acquainted with manufacturing and marketing conditions, arges close co-operation between retailer and consumer and careful discrimination in the selection of merchandise—as a means of restoring prices to normal and premoting the distribution of the bes grade of goods.

Your grocer deals with thousands of buyers. If the merchandise he sells is not satisfactory, he hears about it—customers complain. If buyers are pleased he hears about that.

In this way, experience shows him the real worth of the goods he sells. He knows absolutely which brands give greatest satisfaction—have greatest merit.

That's why grocers everywhere, not only sell but also strongly recommend Calumet Baking Powder. They have confidence in it. They know it satisfies better than any other make, because of the satisfaction expressed by users.

They have faith in the organization back of the product. They are acquainted with the high standards of manufacture—the perfect purity of materials—the extreme care in production.

They know that Calumet will never disappoint the housewife — because it always has been and always will be the same grade—the best.

Used by Millions of Housewives Familiar with True Values

Calumet Baking Powder can't fail to make a reduction in baking costs—in living costs. Because it never fails.

It is the most dependable leavener made—for it is made in a way that does away with all uncertainty. Every baking is certain to be properly leavened, finely grained, feathery light and wholesome.

Makes Most Palatable and Sweetest of Foods

It is the most economical of baking powders. You save when you buy it—moderate in price. You save when you use it—has more than the ordinary leavening strength, therefore, you use less. You save materials it is used with—no spoiled bakings—nothing wasted or thrown away.

Made in the largest, best equipped and most sanitary baking powder factories in the world. Used by more Housewives, Domestic Scientists, Chefs, Restaurants, Hotels and Railroads than any Contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities.

Proved best-most economical by millions of tests. Order a can. Get greatest value at least cost. A baking powder you can depend on because it has demonstrated its superiority through thirty years of use.

Annual Session Convenes in the Historic St. John Church at Augusta on November 7.

Augusta, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—When the North Georgia Methodist conference assembles in the historic St. John's church, this city, for its fifty-fifth annual session during the week of November St. Appointments.

city, for its fifty-fifth annual session during the week of November 6, there will come before it, not only the usual multitude of routine conference matters, but also a number of other exceedingly important creations. Among these will be the promotion of the mission centennial celebration, the adoption of plans for the successful closing of the Christian education movement, problem of the country church, adoption of memorials to the general conference, election of delegates to the general conference, and the possible debate on the question of sending a memorial to the general conference regarding the tenure of office of presiding elders.

The conference year now coming to close has been unusually good in the country the problem of the church, the conference, and the general conference, and the finiterest of the church, the conference with southern Metho-

Candler Former Pastor.

It is, no doubt, with a deep pleasure that Bishop Candler comes to St. John to preside over the conference, since he was pastor in charge of the church for three consecutive years, beginning in 1883. During his pastorate at St. John church the Broadway church was organized.

The formal conference session will begin at 9:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning, November 9. Bishop Candler will conduct the opening exercises, which is an hour intensely enjoyed by the faithful pastors and laymen who come to conference after a year's didigent work. These exercises, devotional in nature, are open to the public.

After the devotions conducted by After the devotions conducted by the bishop, the conference body will proceed in perfecting permanent organization, and the week's work will be launched. Practically all of the first morning will be taken up with reports from the twelve presiding elders as to the progress of the work in their various districts during the year. During the first morning, also, the honored superannuates are given opportunity to speak to the ocnference.

Practically all the ministers belong to the association, each one paying an entranen fee of $2 upon joining, which sum goes into a ready fund, and the payment of a mortuary fee of $2 upon the death of a member. Rev. A. J. Sears is the president of the association, and Rev. W. T. Hunnieut is secretary-treasurer. Immediately knowledge of a member's death comes to the treasurer, he sends a check for $200 to the deceased member's family, and mails notices of the death to other members, asking for remittance of mortuary fees. When the fees come into the treasurer's hands, the amount paid over to the beneficiaries is increased until it reaches between $400 and $500.

This session of the conference in Augusta will make the sixth one to have been held in this city and will also make the sixth consecutive session over which Bishop Candler will have presided. The bishop has presided over this conference seven times.

It is with particular and special interest that the conference comes to Augusta and that the session is to be held in the historic St. John church. The St. John church is called the "Mother of Methodism in Georgia." for it was among the very earliest of Georgia churches to be organized, now closing its 123d year. It was on the identical spot of ground where the church now stands, though not in the same building, that Bishop Asbury used to preach, and the old Peter Cantelou home, where Bishop Asbury used to preach, and the old Peter Cantelou home, where Bishop Asbury held. In 1804, the South Carolina confeence, can'be seen nearby. Attending that conference were other notables among the founders of Methodism in America, potably Thomas Coke.

Mrs. Vernie Webb Light Keeper

CARDUI

/ER 2,200 years ago, Ptolemy II., King of Egypt, (the King who first had the Old Testament translated from the ancient Hebrew) erected, on Pharos, one of the islands of Greece, the first lighthouse known to history.

Today, there are so many lighthouses, all over the world, that we have come to look on them as commonplace and without much interest. Only the hardy mariner realizes their value, as he strains his eyes to look for the saving light, through the storm

In 1852, the Lighthouse Board of the U.S. was organized by Act of Congress, and the Lighthouse Service of the United States Government is now a part of the Department of Commerce.

Mrs. Vernie Webb, lightkeeper at the confluence of the Elk and Kanawha rivers, near Charleston, W. Va., is one of the comparatively few women lightkeepers in the employ of the U. S. Government While on a journey through this part of the country, I made the acquaintance of this interesting woman, and learned many facts about her work and daily life.

Some lighthouse keepers have to live in stern, forbidding, lonely structures, rising perhaps on a rock, out at sea, where fog almost continuously obscures the view, while wind and storm render the lonely spot a true prison, a place where strong men have been known to lose their minds; but this little woman has a pleasanter home, nestled on the bank of the river, looking down on a neighborly colony of houseboats, clustered on the stream, in a nearby nook, brightly painted, fitted with lace curtains, comfortably furnished, and decorated with flowers and vines-supplied, in brief, with all the comforts of more solidly built homes.

Into this cozy little nest I was cordially invited by Mrs. Webb, and spent some pleasant hours of bright, cheery conversation with her, taking away with me a vivid remembrance of the personality of one of the most earnest workers and conscientious people with whom I have ever come in contact.

For 11 or 12 years, Mrs. Vernie Webb, who loves the river, has lived here in comfort and happiness, part of this time having been spent in one of the pretty houseboats. The beacon light that she crossties, built V-shape, and anchored near a wall in the river. This wall was built by the Government to deepen the channel and, at times, is hidden by the water, forming a dangerous bar, upon which ice, and for many hours she had to take her position any ship might easily be wrecked.

To this bar, rain or shine, snow or storm, Mrs. Webb must row from her home up the river, get the lamp and take it home, clean it and fill it, and in the evening take it back, light it and place it in position, as a beacon to river craft, who have come to depend on it for their safety during night navigation at this precarious spot. Formerly this work was done by has now held for over five years.

Floods and storms would long ago have daunted a weaker heart than that of this brave employee of the United States Lighthouse Service, little light shines every night, as a sign of her conscientious devotion to duty. In the interim she enjoys herself, womanlike, in attending to the household work of her attractive home. Four years ago, a terrible ice jam occurred on the river, and when the thaw came and the ice broke up, a veritable avalanche of floating bergs large lantern, affixed to three floating wooden doing great damage. During this time there was grave danger to the little boat upon which Mrs. Webb depends for earning her salary in looking after the light. Having no one to help her, she, herself, had to protect her boat from the floating on the boat, and fend off the grinding ice floes, which threatened the destruction of her property. Although almost exhausted, she stood fast until the danger had passed, and that same night the light was burning brightly in the spot near the dangerous bar, where it had burned continuously for so many years.

Life in the Webb cottage must be pleasant indeed, when Mr. and Mrs. Webb are both at home. Mr. Webb, however, being a railroad man, a man, but when he moved away, Mrs. Webb is often away, and so two large dogs protect the applied for and obtained the position, which she place in his absence. There is plenty of work for a good home-maker around the little cottage, for Mrs. Webb keeps a cow, grows vegetables and flowers, and keeps everything spick and span, varying her household duties now and again by but steadfastly she does her work, and brightly the taking her "John-boat" on a trip to town, where she can do her shopping and perhaps drop in, for an hour or so, at the movies.

Regretfully terminating my interesting visit, took with me a statement about Cardui, the woman's tonic, which Mrs. Webb gave me, covering information offered by her during our desultory conversation, and before my departure put into and floes came sweeping down with the flood, the form of a signed statement, with privilege of tends is simple but serviceable, being composed of tearing boats and barges from their moorings and publication, for the benefit of other women.

Mrs. Webb's Statement

I was taken sick and grew so weak and run down I could not do my work. I got so weak I couldn't row my boat. I was weak and nervous.

My work is to light the light in the river to keep the boats off the wall. I could not go out at all.

I fretted quite a good deal, so began to look for something to take. Some friend suggested CARDUI, and I found it all it was recommended. I began its use and in two weeks I was back lighting the beacon. I grew stronger. I owe my good health to Cardui. It built me up wonderfully.

IN PHOTO CONTEST

The picture selected for first prize," said Mr. Bidwell Saturday, was finally chosen as the best example of the amateur photographer's art on account of its clearness, the obvious excellence of the negative, an undoubted artistic view in choice of angle, and a final choice of subject with uniqueness and appeal. The lights and shades in the winning picture, which show so delicately the shades of the trees on the white of the old manse, are particularly good.

"As I have said, however, the task was difficult. There were so many pictures and so many of undenied merit, that the job was a real one. Mr. Reeves, Mr. Hoffman and I had several rather, lengthy discussions over the respective merits of pictures, but we concurred in the final helief that the awards were justly graduated."

There was one particularly meritorious picture in the group receiving awards which had no name nor law.

> The tendency is towards lowness and lightnessreplacing the clumsiness and heavy appearance of old-time bodies.

> Note how the new Marmon Sedans, Coupes, Suburbans and other closed models eliminate the usual top-heavy appearance.

Another tendency is towards added vision. Note how the new Marmons introduce an entirely new treatment of windshield design, giving the driver a wider vision, adding both comfort and safety in driving.

Larger doors and windows, roomier seating, more comfortable upholstering, and dozens of other important improvements, give the new Marmons an exclusive field amongst high-grade cars.

Don't delay in seeing them and riding in them. Mere words and pictures are insufficient in describing these superior closed cars, mounted on the dependable Marmon chassis.

The Meaning of Ratification. The Meaning of Ratification.

It is thus seen that Europe's problems of reconstruction and rehabilitation of 1919 were huge and to complicated. At this desperate stage she looked to the Versailles treaty as her chart and to America as the world leader. Treaty ratification would mean early péace and the disbandment of armies, the restoration of mutual confidence and good will among many peoples suspicious of readjustment and réorganization by which every people could be guided with system and certainty. Ratification would mean clearly defined boundary lines, the permanent creation of new nations, provisions for fixing the German indemnity, international disarmament, and in brief, a gradual and general transformation from war to peace conditions, politically, financially, commercially and industrially.

In the light of all post-war experience of the past, Europe, as viewed from the middle of 1919, if given outside co-operation and encouragement at all reasonable, could undoubtedly make a satisfactory return towards normal within a surprisingly short period. Would some friendly or creditor nations, even in their own enlighted self-interest, lend a helping hand; If so, Europe's other problems, such as deflation of currency, credit and prices, the balancing of budgets, support of the foreign exchange and credit situation, would be greatly simplified. Suitable aid could not be delayed if this herculean task was to be successfully accomplished, Europe must at once move forward or backward.

uncture? In the summer of 1919, Europe and the world stood aghast when they suddenly learned that America, to whose leadership all the nations had turned, was in the act of rejecting the treaty providing for world peace, abandoning practically all associations and relations with other countries, and pursuing a strict policy of political and commercial isolation. As this unbelievable possibility at first gradually became a positive reality—as the United States deserted her proud place at the head of the column of all the nations of the earth—struggling as they were to preserve civilization, to re-establish stable government and to restore economic order from economic chaos—and skulked away, the war-weary peoples everywhere gave way to despair. The peace, the civilization of the world must be subordinated to narrow, selfsh, sordid, vicious politics in America. when they suddenly learned that tics in America

America's Policy of Isolation." What were some of the unspeaks ole consequences of this American political policy of "isolation" and of throttling world peace? Europe without leadership, with the program of world peace hopelessly handicaped, helpless, not knowing which way to turn, staggered and reeled further back towards bankruptcy, bolshevism, governmental ararchy and economic chaos. Numerous wars broke out. The world—and America practically—has been kept on a war footing for two years, while a large portion of Europe has slipped further towards utter ruin. American troops are still on the Rhine. France, in constant dread and suspense, still retains an idle standing army of 2,670,000 men, Poland 600,000, and England 425,000.

These enormous amounts could otherwise have been applied to the support of Europe's foreign exchanges and foreign trade and to the interest and principal of the debt due us, thereby permitting our own war taxes to be correspondingly lowered.

The full economic co-operation and co-operation. and co-ordination so successfully practiced among the allied nations during the war was completely dissolved, though no less vital than during the war, leaving each country to survive unaided if it could. Currency and credit expansion has been fabulously increased since the middle of 1919. The note circulation of Germany has climbed to $22,500,000,000; of the bank of France to $7.640,000,000; and of the Bank of England to $2,210,000,000. Countries like Germany, Austria, Russia, Poland and certain others will now be obliged to repudiate their paper currencies in order to get back to a sound business basis. Foodstuffs and raw materials, however, were indispensible to this general undertaking. The United States held the chief available supply of each. The more enfeebled states of Europe, having neither cash nor commodities with which to buy from us, must secure credit from the stronger nations before they would be able to make any appreciable recovery.

The people of the 12 or 15 states in Europe, already referred to as having been left most enfeedled by the war, could hold out no longer than the fore part of 1920. President Wilson, in addressing congress in May, 1919, expressed the sound views of all unbiased Ameri-

Amidst ever-mcreasing disease tarvation, poverty, unemployment riots and new wars, the financial commercial and industrial collapse came to this part of Europe early in 1920. The industrial power of Europe had broken down. This meant that her consuming power was gone—a fact of which the American laborer, capitalist, miner, farmer, sheep herder and ranchman were then utterly indifferent, but of which each was destined soon to take sharp notice. The first effect observed was a sudden halt in the commerce of Europe. Her trade structure had collapsed. The hundreds of millions of consumers in those prostrate countries, becoming entirely impoverished, had abruptly stopped buying. Manufacturers and producers in England, France, Beigium and the neutral commercial countries nearby, could no longer sell their products. The result was that in turn they almost suddenly either ceased or greatly reduced their purchases of billions of foodstuffs and raw materials from America. Prices rapidly fell in England, our largest customer, and this slump soon spread to neighboring in 1920. The industrial power of America. Prices rapidly fell in England, our largest customer, and this slump soon spread to neighboring nations, which were still functioning economically.

The United States, as a direct efect, later experienced almost a vertical fall in prices of cotton, copper. live stock, cereals, meat products and many lines of manufactures, of 30 to 50 per cent, and hence a cor responding decrease in the internal purchasing power of her people. Nor could South America escape. Brazil could no longer sell her coffee and rubber, nor Argentina her grains, woods, hides and meats, nor Chile her nitrates, nor Cuba her sugar. The result in South America was a quick example on and shump in wick stagnation and slump rices at home and sudden loss the purchasing power of her per ple abroad. From the sore spot of Europe already described a collaps of prices and of trade swept aroun the earth like a conflagration.

The remainder of the story is nov known to everyone everywhere. In America it is seen in our idle ships. idle factories, idle mines and idle men. The failure to ratify the treaty had prevented peace in Europe, and the failure of peace precipitation of the peace p

The Brussels conference agreed as one man that the sound, permanent reduction of prices and the return to normal prosperity "is dependent on the increase of production." The past deflation of prices in the United States, and the great slump in prices due to the panic, has been largely artificial, uneven, lop-sided and uncertain, as to different industries and even as to different commodities in the same industry, because the natural law of supply and demand and of the transportation and free interchange of commodities was suspended as a result of the breakdown of the international exchange, credit, and trade situations. The free flow of American commerce back and forth with other countries was blocked or greatly obstructed.

All must recognize the present the increase of production." The All must recognize the present fluctuations in our domestic prices and in the volume and movement of our internal or domestic commerce as due to more or less temporary, local and domestic causes, and that sound, healthful and permanent business recovery can only be had at home as world recovery is had. When the United States gets back to the stable level of permanent prosperity, the balance of the world will not be far behind. The world is far from that level now. The world's credit system must be restored before there can be a general trade revival. Reduced production in America does not help, but retards, permanent recovery. We should stimulate production—save in America does not help, but retards, permanent recovery. We should stimulate production—save on luxuries—practice economy, and keep open the foreign markets if we would bring prices down gradually and prevent the unequal fall of prices of foodstuffs, raw materials and manufactures, as well as frequent fluctuations and seesaws in price and market conditions.

Not Comparable to Other Panies. The causes of our present great panic losses are not comparable to those following the civil war, whe the nation had great inflation of dethe nation had great inflation of de-based currency and credit, and ev-eryone entered on a period of wild speculation which precipitated the panic of 1872; nor are they compar-able to those of the panic in Japan in the spring of 1920, due to the almost identical causes of ours of 1873. Neither are our post-war con-ditions to be compared with those of the war of 1812-14, which also followed the Napoleonic wars, when both Europe and America were left impoverished. mpoverished.

Blind refusal, produced by political and personal hate, will be the sole explanation offered by the impartial historian of the future.

Reconstruction Policies Centrasted.

It is extremely interesting to contrast the readjustment methods and reduction of war taxes, removal of war laws and war restrictions on business, return of the railroads, telegraphs and telephone to private operation, regulation of cold storage warehouses, use of the power over interstate commerce to check hoarding and profiteering, measures to check the high cost of living, to establish a shipping policy, to create a federal budget, to secure the maintenance of foreign trade, and international economic co-operation.

In pursuance of their program to defeat the treaty, the republican defeat the treaty, the republican congress studiously and stupidly igpracticed clearly meant "half patriot and half politician." The great economic conference held at Brussels in September, 1920, composed of the ablest and most dis-interested financiers and economists of the world, solemnly resolved that "The first condition for the resumption of international trade, is conclusion of the wars which are still being waged, and the assured maintenance of peace for the future. The continuance of the atmosphere The continuance of the atmosphere of war and of preparations for war is fatal to the development of that mutual trust which is essential to the resumption of normal trading relations. The security of internat conditions is scarcely less important, as foreign trade can not prosper in a country whose internal conditions do not inspire confidence."

Political Risk Bar to Financial Aid. association for examples of their work, accepted and shown at the 398th international convention of the association, held at Buffalo, ess men and hankers of America have constantly proclaimed their readiness to advance necessary credits to Europe if it were not for the serious political risk involved. Government over there was of uncertain tenure. Americans were willing to take any commercial risk involved. Mrs. Jennings has become well take any commercial risk involved, there it was that the first big rift in our foreign trade occurred. But for governmental uncertainty abroad, the Americans would have discounted foreign commercial paper, granted short and long-term loans abroad, made permanent investments in Europe, and left much of our hurdensome gold surplus in vestments in Europe, and left much of our burdensome gold surplus in our foreign branch banks, all of which would have gradually equalized and sustained the international financial and trade situation. Instead of doing these big things in a big way, however, we have made but the puniest effort at foreign trade financing. Only eleven financial institutions or agencies have been organized for that purpose, and they have been too timerous to do any appreciable amount of business. can economic authorities as follows: less we help Europe to get back to her normal life and production, a chaos will ensue there which will inevitably be communicated to this country. If only in our own inter-est we must help the people overest we must help the people over-seas. Europe is our best customer. We must keep her going or thou-sands of our shops and scores of our mines must close. There is no such thing as letting her go to ruin without ourselves sharing in the disaster." How truly prophetic! Invoking Democratic Policies. The general and inevitable outome of the republican opposition to the treaty and other feadjustment measures is that in addition to the panic losses our nation, has needlessly suffered, we must render Europe far greater aid and in turn suffer far greater risk of losses, in or-Herbert Hoover, in a speech on October 3, 1919, further emphasized this combined domestic and world condition as follows:

"We are an overseas people and we are dependent upon Europe for market for the surplus products of our farmers and lanorers. Without order in Europe we will at best have business depression, unemployment, and all their train of trouble. With renewed disorganization in Europe, social disease and anarchy thrive, and we are infected by every social disease and anarchy thrive, and we are infected by every social disease and anarchy thrive, sand we are infected by every social disease and anarchy thrive, sand we are infected by every social disease and anarchy thrive."

Scores of similar views could be cited. From the spring of 1919 to the spring of 1921 the republic with the effairs of the world if we are to thrive."

Wilson's Recommendations.

President Wilson convened congress accorned, ignored and repudiated these vital economic truths.

Although our international commerce had almost trebled in value, republicans now endeavor to mitirepublicans now endeavor to mitigate their crime by comparing the present shrunken paices and volume of commerce in certain lines with those of 1913, as though we were expected to make no progress in the expansion of production and commerce during the past eight years. They ignore the fact that American production has been expanded 25 or 30 per cent, and that to now concongress studiously and stupidly ignored most all these reconstruction proposals for near a year, and the most important ones until this day. This is not the occasion to enumer the incalculable losses suffered by the American government, American business and the American production has been expanded 25 or 30 per cent, and that to now contain people, as a direct result of thus placing politics above patriotism on the part of certain "100 per cent American people of twelve to fifteen billions of dollars and the throwing out of employment capital, plants, practiced clearly meant "half patriot" labor and other productive, agencies out of employment capital, plants, labor and other productive agencies in corresponding measure. Our prosperity depended on our maintaining this increased production and foreign markets in which to sell it.

The federal reserve board has re-cently pointed out the fact that our foreign trade is a controlling fac-tor in our domestic prosperity, in The that "it affords a stablishing factor which influences both (domestic) prices and amount of output." It affords an outlet for our surplus and enables us to supply deficiencies from abroad without unreason. able price changes and fluctuations that otherwise would occur. CHARMION K. LONDON

Author of The Book of Jack London respondent wno says that Jack London's short stories were so well received there—in fact, the welcome they received was "comparable to that which greeted some of Kipling's short stories"—that he was invited to come over and take a personal look at the old world. The motive in inviting London was so that he might gather fresh material by visiting East End and the docks.
"They heard no more of this until he turned up, some eighteen months later. They 'greeted him cordially,' says John o' London, and asked how long he had been in England. He had been there about two months. Where? 'In the East End,' Jack an-

He had spent eight weeks of the twelve he had been in England in solitary observation, dressing and acting the part of a 'longshoreman and getting in touch with the strange world of the London docks."

The publishers predict that not only London and New York, but Paris and Moscow, are likely to demand editions of this interesting book, for these and many other capitals have produced translations. Mrs. London says the idea of writing her husband's biography was his own, "for he used to say that if he died first, I would be the only one that could write the sort of biography that should be written about him," and she believes that she has written a true story of his life.

The Triumph of Virginia Dale. By John Francis, though a new writer of fiction, he has written a very interesting story weaving it around a young and leautiful girl whose father, a successful business man, worshipped only at the shrine of Mammon, forgetting the Golden Rule which was taught in the golden days of youth.

And his young daughter, who having lost her mother during her childhood, was being reared in the atmosphere of her father's home, one day in going through an old desk she found a letter addressed to her, written by her mother, in which she begged her to "be unselfish," and to remember to "be kind to others."

This message from her mother changed the young girl's life—a life of selfishness to one of such unselfishness which filled her Mfe with sunshine, and made those around her not only happy but grateful to her dear mother, whose beautiful life of sacrifice and love they still remembered. Given Tombstone, Mitchell Raises

For instance, in the days that are gone, Mr. Mitchell used to plant his mint bed in the winter, and if you are an Atlantan of several years standing you will recall the juleps that blossomed therefrom in the summer.

Also Mr. Mitchell is a philosopher. He realizes, among other things, that death is inevitable, and that a tombetone is an almost necessary adjunct of death. So when a friend offered him a tombstone, he accepted it. He did a little more. He ordered his final resting place prepared in Richmond, Va., the city of his nativity. Likewise, he caused to have engraved on that stone his name, date of birth and left blank a place for the date of death, being hopeful that it will not have to be filled in for years to come. ### ATLANTA KEEPS HER DETECTIVES BUSY SATURDAY

Nine arrests were made and a car recovered by Atlanta detectives Saturday night. IRe Huggins, of 100 Julian street, was arrested after Deputy Sheriff Smith, Lieutenant of Detectives Ryan and Detectives Hamilton and Hoflingsworth entered his home with a search warrant and found 67 half pints and four pints of corn liquor.

Detectives Carter, Brown and Bullard raided a crap game Saturday night in the stable to the rear of 409 Peters street, and arrested eight negroes. Besides a pair of dice, the detectives found only 10 cents in change on the stable floor.

Lieutenant Ryan bad a tip that the car of 0r. J. H. Moore, colored, of 232 McDaniel street, which was stolen on the night of October 16, at the corner of McDaniel and Whitehall streets; was in Hampton, Ga., and he communicated with authorities there and the machine was secured. Detectives Meek and Holley brought the ear to Atlanta.

Scout Honor Court

To Convene Monday;

Division 1 of the Boy Scout court of honor will be presided over by Colonel E. E. Pomeroy at a session Monday night at 7:45 o'clock in the courthouse. The other members of Division 1 of the court are J. A. Addison, Dr. Frank Boland, Frank Lowenstein. Kendall Weisiger and Charles Atkinson.

Twenty-six Scouts are listed for examination in merit badge work at this meeting. This will be the second meeting since the reorganization of court of honor work and meetings will be held weekly until the crowded docket is disposed of. The docket for the meeting Monday night is as follows:

Heavy Docket Ready

"Cyclone Mack" won almost instant approval when he first appeared here four weeks ago, and he has been greeted by capacity crowds every night of his meetings. The Baptist Tabernacle seats nearly 5,000 people, and he has filled the big building on virtually every weekday night, and on the three Sundays he has preached to an average of more than 12,000 people each Sunday.

More converts have been made during the meeting than at any other meeting held at the Tabernacle and a large number of people have added their names to the church roll of the Tabernacle and to the rolls in other churches of Atlanta. "Cyclone Mack" won almost in-

Witches' Club "Beech-Nut" Trade-Mark Litigation Settled AT AUDITORIUM Secures $4,000 By the Patent Office

For Girls' Home In an opinion just handed down in the patent office, P. Lorillard company has been held entitled to use the trade-mark "Beech-Nut for tobacco products, including cigarettes. This decision is not only important as a matter of trademark law, but it is of special interest in the tobacco industry.

The case arose from an application filed by the Beech-Nut Packing company in the summer of 1919 for registration of this trade-mark and in the principal buildings of the city selling the tags, each bearing the silhouette of a witch riding a broomstick, to passers-by.

There were few persons on the streets who did not have one of the tags swinging from a buttonhole before nightfall. Headquarters for tag day were in the Arcade building, by courtesy of Otis & Holliday. for cigarettes. The packing com theretofore made of the trade-mark for many years, beginning about 1891 for meats, and gradually ex-tended it until it included groceries, candy and chewing gum, many of which were packaged articles and some of which have been lately sold in stores selling tobacco prod-

We were told for years that our football players ran pretty well and developed formations pretty well and developed formations pretty well, but that we never had and never would learn to tackle with the ferocity of the eastern player and we knew less about cutting down and would never pick up the knack of the thing until we subsisted on New England boiled dinners, codfish cakes and baked beans. Which, of course, was the veriest stuff and nonsense—but we believed it and it became tradition.

We believed this stuff because we got it pretty generally from coaches. Who came from the east. The coaches have the nonsense out because they wanted to fire their men with an ambition to attain something impossible. They would teach a man to tackle to the best of their ability, and then to inspire them to tackle better than they knew how would remark "that's something like the way we do it up east." It was a pretty good system at that. Then they could point to the unfailing lack of success that attended southern schools on their eastern invasions and sagely shake their heads with the remark "vou"! In the old days, the coach's job was easy, if unsatisfactory. To select his varsity, he just had to pick approached football players in appearance, and he had his squad. Now, with the wealth of high school material coming in, he has to select and select carefully.

That is the reason why southern teams' have been able to journey east this year and give a good active football player. Who has been care football player, who has been care football player, who has been care football player, who has been care football player. thought in what he says. Here is his letter:

"I have just read the sport section of The Atlanta Constitution of Sunday morning, October 23, concerning the Tech-Rutgers game on Saturday. Being one of the very few Rutgers men attending the game, I should like to give you my impressions for what they are worth.

"Last fall when we were invited by Tech to play, we were aware of the break with Centre and Pittsburg and the attending publicity it attracted. In addition, we heard to give you my plays hard, clean, skillful football. It is the fastest and best drilled team I have ever seen. It is a pleasure to me to come back and telligive more soncerning other conditions in Atlanta which made us pause and think the situation over. The game was scheduled on the advice of some of our alumni who assured us from personal observation, that Tech was a desirable opponent. The game was therefore scheduled and prepared for to the best of our ability.

Gamblers Approach Squad.

"Our squad had not been in Atlanta an hour last Friday before a number of people interested in gambling on the result of the game sought our coaches, managers and players for opinions and information. This was a brand-new experience for us. Usly rumors having to do with gambling activities soon began to go the rounds and I confers that the atmosphere was so foreign to anything we had ever encountered, that it shocked us. It seemed to us deplorable that Atlanta should put her worst foot foremost in this fashion.

"People interested in gambling made their presence felt right up to game time, and even in the grandstand where I sat. It appeared to me that every touchdown, every penalty, every move of a player meant something to somebody's pocketbook, to be accompanied by cheers of the winner and curses of the loser as the case might be. I know this situation exists in any sports crowd, but seldom to this extent.

Criticism for Birch.

"You perhaps know that the principal controversy in intercollegiate football revolves around the shift plays used by Georgia Tech. Coaches and officials all over the land are nore or less in dispute about the legality of these formations. There-

Fargo, N. D., October 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—R. A. Nestos, independent candidate for governor, was maintaining a diminishing lead over Governor Lynn J. Frazier, non-partisan, as additional returns on yesterday's recall election came in tonight from the rural strongholds of the league in the western part of the state. Returns on the gubernatorial contest from 1,762 of the states 2,086 precincis gave Nestos 105,034 votes and Frazier 91,939, an independent lead of 13,095 in a total voted of 196,953. These returns were from all of the 53 countles in the state, with nearly a score complete. While the independent leaders were maintaining their claim of majorities of from 7,000 to 10,000, the Non-Partisan league state headquarters here refused to concede defeat of the league candidates, contending that a greater proportion of the Missouri slope vote must be accounted for before the outcome could be known definitely. Paris, who replaced Parr for the local college, furnished the driving power which finally netted the only touchdown of the game. His ontrance into the game and his subsequent dashes were the only dramatics furnished the rather meager crowd, which had yanked itself to Ponce de Leon park for the conflict. In his short rushes, netting usually six and eight yards through tackle, this little saviour of Petrel destinies was aided and abetted by Jake Morris, who played otherwise a sterling brand of football.

One towering figure in Chattanooga's defense, and about the only sizeable figure they had in that line, was Talmon—who is reported to have been mentioned for All-American during a previous schoolage at Rutgers. Only one time did he show any offensive ability except in a deadly aim with a forward pass. This time was when he skirted right end for 20 yards, finally stopping when six Oglethorpe players formed a pyramid and stopped him. He looks about six feet four and has a reach that embraced the whole Oglethorpe line. The flanks were the only possible avenues for Petrel gains. Talmon was backing up the line.

The Petrels met rather disastrous reatest drawing card ever seen in the light classes. The flyweights are becoming popular, thanks largely to Wilde and Buff.

Outweighed on average of 10 pounds to the man, the southerners put Detroit on the defensive throughout the entire first half, assuming a three point lead by means of a goal from the field, and repeatedly crushing scoring hopes of the locals.

Tulane died fighting. Until the final whistle the visitors put up one of the most stubborn defenses seen on a Michigan gridiron this year.

The New Orleans eleven scored in field goal early in the first period. The visitors crumbled the elviroit line and blocked a punt on the locals' 35-yard line, obtaining possession of the ball. Legendre's kick was perfect.

Detroit scored a touchdown in the third period, after a penalty against Tulane for rough play and several line smashes put the ball on the visitors' one-yard line.

The second Detroit touchdown came in the final quarter, when Mc-Kenna, substitute quarterback re-ceived a punt, and with splendid in-terference ran 80 yards to his oppenent's goal.

In the same quarter Legendre and Turpin completed a 40-yard forward pass, the latter running 19 yards for a touchdown.

Sheats, for Winder, scored both touchdowns, receiving forward passes, P. Hill kicking goal. A third touchdown was made by Winder, but was called back. Bush, for Madison, raced sixty yards for their first counter, the second resulted by a forward pass.

Princeton, N. J., October 29.—The Princeton football team showed a complete reversal of form against Virginia in the Palmer stadium today and, at the end of the first period led the southerners 14 to 0. The first touchdown was registered in five minutes. Cleaves carrying the ball over after the Tigers had advanced it the entire length of the field. The second was scored on a pass from Snively to Van Gerber.

Princeton rushed in substitutes when the second period began, but the Virginians were unabel to half the Tiger attack. Two more touchdowns were made by the Tigers, the first soon after play began on a pass from Cleaves to Garrity, and the second on a pass from Van Gerber to Euwer, substituting for Garrity. Keck kicked all goals. In the first two periods Princeton made eleven first downs to Virginia's one.

The southerners tightened in the third period and the Tigers could not score. Keck tried a field goal from the 43-yard line, but the ball went low. Most of the time, however, the ball was in Virginia territory, and the visitors never proved dangerous. Frank Snyder, Giants catcher, has started for his home in San Antonio, where he will spend the winter. Snyder plans to rest all winter after three hunting trips around the gulf region. The Giants will train in San Antonio next spring and Snyder says he will meet the bunch there five minutes after they arrive. Willie Hoppe, champion billiardist, is now getting in shape for what he believes will be the greatest billiard season this country ever had. Hoppe has been booked for six weeks of play against Charles Peterson, the St. Louis trick shot. Four weeks of the time will be consumed in various localities in New York city, while two weeks will be spent in Boston.

Princeton added another touch-down in the fourth period. The final score was: Princeton, 34; Virginia, 6 MONROE AGGIES WIN FROM MADISON, 46-0

Monroe, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—Monroe A. and M. defeated Madison A. and M. by 46-0 score. The Monroe eleven ran away with the Madison team here yesterday. After several exchanges of punis Monroe took the ball and on straight football carried the ball over for the first touchdown. From then on the Madison team was helpiess before the Monroe forwards. Settle was the best ground gainer for Monroe, he making several nice gains. Guthrie and Parrish played a good game on the defense, while Barron was good on passing. Harlow, Wilson and Hancock played best in the line. The whole Madison team played about the same brand of ball. no one in particular starring.
